THE ALLIANCE IN ACTION:

What surprised me most about working with Hyatt versus other brands is the way each property works together to find creative solutions that support the best needs of the client. If one property is not the best fit for a program or unable to offer availability, they are quick to provide other options within Hyatt's family of brands that will work. The Hyatt sales teams, especially within the Convention Alliance, have strong working relationships with intimate knowledge of each property, making it a seamless process for internal referrals that supports the needs of clients like myself.

THE ALLIANCE IN ACTION:

The power of the Hyatt Convention Alliance is that we have ten large convention hotels strategically placed with Directors of Sales and Marketing who know each other like family. I know if my customer needs something in another city, I can pick up the phone and have a quick conversation to make it happen. The continuity and partnership of the Alliance extends directly to the customer and at the end of the day, that's what it's all about... partnerships!

“Our main goal has always been to make booking business with us simple and easy.”

THE ALLIANCE IN ACTION:

I was surprised by how much the hotels talk with each other and share information about my program. So it's not one hotel that understands my group but multiple hotels. As a planner, that is a huge help to me to save time and not have to repeat and share information multiple times.

"Hyatt understands the importance of relationships. This understanding has led to our long-term relationship."
